Boys At Sea In Rowboat For 36 Days

Tutula, Samoa, Nov. 8.
Three teen-age Samoan boys who put to sea in an 18-foot rowboat 36 days ago have been found alive, weeks after all hope for their survival had been abandoned.

The boat carrying the three unidentified boys landed on Monday on a reef at Fupafu atoll in the Ellice Islands, 700 miles from home. First reports said they were in good condition.

The three youths left Swains Island, north of Samoa, on September 30 for a 50-mile trip to the Oukela Islands. They were not seen again until Monday.

The Royal New Zealand Air Force searched a 2,000-square-mile area for two days. But the hunt was called off on October 5.—Associated Press.

Man's Terrifying Ordeal

Capetown, Nov. 8.
A man who tossed for three days on the Indian Ocean lashed to a cabin door while parts of his body were eaten away by man-eating fish told his story to the Supreme Court here today.

He was Abdul Razak Halim, an Indian laborer in Capetown, and he was given permission by the court to presume as dead his younger brother whom he had last seen on a ship torpedoed by the Japanese in 1942.

As he lay pinned by a fall of timber to the deck a second torpedo struck the ship. The submarine then surfaced and gave the passengers an hour to take to the boats.

"I can remember going down with her, but nothing more until I came to floating in the ocean on a cabin door," he said.

He drifted over the ocean, his body alternately bisected while by the sea water and burned black by the sun. His fingers and toes and other parts of his body were eaten away by fish.

Finally, he was picked up by a warship.—Reuter.

Western Powers Determined On Disarmament Plan

Washington, Nov. 8.

The Western Powers will continue to urge United Nations approval of a "foolproof" disarmament plan despite Russia's quick rejection, American officials said today.

The rejection, voiced by the Soviet Foreign Minister, Mr. Andrei Y. Vyshinsky in Paris, was anticipated here.

There is no prospect of immediate comment on Mr. Vyshinsky's counter proposal to call a world disarmament conference before next June 1.

Word in official quarters was that the United States, Britain and France will, first, continue to press for action on a disarmament plan in the United Nations, and, secondly, point out to the world as every available opportunity that the Russians had turned down the "Big Three" proposal without study.

Officials pointed to President Truman's statement that any nation unwilling to agree to an international inventory and inspection of military stores and forces "is not really interested in disarmament."

SURPRISE PACKET

A world disarmament conference by June next year was Russia's "surprise" packet of the General Assembly, especially his proposal for the inclusion of non-invited United Nations members which would include Communist China and many others.

Mr. Vyshinsky made it crystal clear that Russia would have no part of the West's disarmament plan. Russia still wanted, he said, the destruction of all existing bombs, prohibition against the building of any more and the use of atomic energy only for peaceful purposes.

But Mr. Vyshinsky said not a word about the key to the entire problem—international inspection of armaments by United Nations officials.

He said that Russia had consistently called for the complete outlawing of atomic weapons and not merely for a reduction as called for by the Western Allies.—United Press.

COMPARISONS

London, Nov. 8.
Diplomatic quarters here accepted the Soviet Foreign Minister, Mr. Vyshinsky's statement in Paris today as an authoritative reply to this week's series of Western peace declarations.

Points of differences as seen here are:

1. President Auriol proposed an immediate meeting of the heads of State of Russia, America, Britain and France.

Mr. Vyshinsky proposed a five-Power conference to conclude a non-aggression pact, thus making it clear that the status of China is still a major factor dividing East and West.

2.—The Western Powers proposed international control of atomic weapons with inspection, disclosure and verification, but Mr. Vyshinsky made it clear that Russia takes its stand on total prohibition.

3.—The United Nations proposed that the cease-fire line in Korea should be the line of battle while Mr. Vyshinsky adheres to a demand for the 38th Parallel as the line.

The Western proposals, launched in yesterday's three-Power declaration and backed in a broadcast by President Truman, were today rejected by Mr. Vyshinsky.

His counter proposals seem to be equally unacceptable to the West.—Reuter.

Strike Pickets Banned

Jersey City, Nov. 8.
Superior Court Judge Thomas Stanton today granted a temporary order banning the wildcat striking longshoremen from New York from picketing piers in New Jersey.

The injunction was sought by 14 major steamship companies and stevedoring firms. It is effective pending a hearing and decision on whether to make the ban permanent.

The shipping firms charged that New Jersey dock workers had stayed away from work only because of "outsiders" who had no proper union jurisdiction in New Jersey.—United Press.

Socialists Win With Reduced Majority

Barnsley, England, Nov. 8.

The Socialists won the last seat in the House of Commons today when their candidate won the election here, but the Labour majority dropped by nearly 10,000 in the polling when the results were announced.

The Labour candidate polled 37,523 to the Conservatives 9,298 and the Liberals 7,002.—United Press.

The final state of the parties is: Conservatives 321, Socialists 295, Liberals 6, Others 3.

Willing To Compromise Say Reds

Demarcation Line
Revisions

Tokyo, Nov. 9.

The Communist Peking Radio said today that the Reds were agreeable to final revisions of the demarcation line, apparently clearing the way for a speed-up in the truce negotiations in Pan Mun Jom.

A "responsible" member of the Communist delegation was quoted in a special interview as saying the Reds did not demand that an immediate and irrevocable truce line be drawn before proceeding to the next item on the agenda.

The United Nations delegation rejected the proposals on Thursday on the grounds that it would give the Reds an immediate cease-fire and enable them to stall on other items.

As they prepared for the 16th session in Pan Mun Jom, the UN delegates frankly admitted they did not know what would happen next. However, if the Communist radio was correct in saying the Reds were agreeable to a final revision, then there would be little standing in the way of speedy agreement and progress to the next item and a means to end the actual shooting.

"CONFUSED"

The Red radio said there were two separate portions to their proposal on which the American side was confused. One was that no "adjustments" should be made without mutual consent.

However, to speed up the talks, the broadcast said, "Our side proposed another understanding—that if any real changes occur in the actual line of contact before the signing of the armistice agreement, the military demarcation line and demilitarized zone as initially determined should, at the suggestion of either side, be adjusted to correspond to the actual changes in the line of contact."

"The American side, in disregard of these facts, is stating that our side wants an immediate fixing of an unchangeable military demarcation line." The joint armistice subcommittee met at Pan Mun Jom at 11 a.m. for the 16th time, with the way cleared for a speedy break-up of the truce deadlock.—United Press.

REDS REFUSED
Eighth Army, Nov. 9.
The Chinese Communists made a futile effort to capture and hold a hill west of Yenchow on Thursday as action along the Korean front dropped to its lowest point in a week. The Reds pushed Allied defenders from the hill but later were forced to flee by a United Nations artillery barrage, leaving 130 dead, behind.—United Press.

NORTH PACIFIC QUAKE RECORDED

Tokyo, Nov. 9.
The Japanese Central Meteorological Observatory said today that seismographs "recorded" an earthquake of "strong" intensity on Thursday night in the North Pacific. It said the quake, similar to the one on November 7 off the Kurile Islands, began at 1:54 p.m. GMT and lasted about two hours. It added that the quake itself was not felt in Japan.—United Press.

Egyptian Terrorists Kidnap Briton

Churchill
Seeks Labour
Leaders'
Cooperation

London, Nov. 8.
Mr. Winston Churchill's Conservative Government today called in top Labour leaders in a bid for trade union help in Britain's bitter economic crisis.

Mr. Churchill and his top Ministers are believed to be favouring a try at American-type industrial methods to boost Britain's production to where Britain can pay her way in the world.

Mr. Churchill called the Cabinet again this morning for another study of the grave economic difficulties outlined to a hushed House of Commons by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. R. A. Butler.

Then Mr. Butler invited leaders of the powerful Trades Union Congress to see him this evening at the Treasury and also asked leaders of the Federation of British Industries to come on Friday.

Mr. Butler is expected to feel around for a new approach in talks with labour and industry leaders which would include:

1.—The possibility of incentives at all levels of industry to increase output.
2.—An appeal for both management and labour to drop restrictive practices holding down output, including the fear of new methods and "over-production."

3.—An attempt to build up a "spirit of partnership" between labour and management in these first talks and subsequent discussions.—United Press.

COAL SHORTAGE

London, Nov. 8.
Britain tonight limited the amount of coal any household can buy during the next three months.

Mr. Geoffrey Lloyd, Minister of Fuel and Power, told the House of Commons that the country's stocks of household coal now totals 1,180,000 tons—only half of last year's stocks and lower than they have been since the war.

Asked to explain how much of a cut in supplies the average British home would take, Mr. Lloyd replied "It will be extremely complicated and I cannot explain it here."

Mr. Lloyd's Ministry issued an order, however, limiting purchases in Northern districts to 1,344 pounds of coal during November, December and January. The maximum for the warmer Southern districts was set at 1,120 pounds.

Previously, the average British family was given an annual coal allocation of 3,584 pounds and permitted to buy up to two tons of coke if it was available.—Associated Press.

British Airmen Rescued

Kuala Lumpur, Nov. 8.
Two British airmen, who crashed in a guerrilla ridden jungle five days ago, reached safety today under a protective umbrella of planes.

No news of their flight had been disclosed because of the danger that guerrillas might hunt them down. When they crashed over South Kelantan last Saturday, both scrambled out unhurt and one managed to send a message to headquarters before their wireless broke down.

They built a raft from the fuselage of their plane and pushed off down a jungle stream. Their message had been received and a search was started immediately. Over 70 planes took part. After three days they were spotted and from then on a continuous stream of planes "covered" them through the guerrilla ridden country and dropped food and a radio to them.—Reuter.

Many Presents For Royal Children

Halifax, Nova Scotia, Nov. 8.
Princess Elizabeth thanked the people of Canada tonight for the "wonderful assortment of presents for our children." Speaking at a dinner given by the Provincial Government, the Princess said, "When we got home, we shall be able to give some of the Canadian Christmas presents."—Reuter.

RELEASED FOLLOWING INTERROGATION

Cairo, Nov. 8.
The British military authorities today charged that terrorists kidnapped an oil company employee in the tense Suez Canal Zone, as British troops were ordered to keep their powder dry and guns ready for action.

The reported kidnapping and subsequent release in Cairo of a Shell Oil Company employee, Dan Godfrey, came as Britain increased counter-measures against Egyptian armed attack on convoys.

At the same time, the first group of Egyptian women prepared for their initial military instruction tomorrow on how to drive British troops out of Egypt.

A dispatch from United Press correspondent Peter Webb at Fany in the Canal Zone said a British military spokesman announced that Godfrey was kidnapped by unknown terrorists, wearing light-blue armbands, as he was travelling from Suez to Cairo on Tuesday.

The kidnappers forced Godfrey into a car, at Bibels and took him to Zagazig, outside the Canal Zone, where he was thrust into a cell with two other British subjects until "his identity could be proved," the spokesman said. He added that later Godfrey was taken by train under escort to Cairo, where he was released "without explanation."

The Shell Oil Company spokesman in Cairo said Godfrey was "held up at a roadblock" near Bibels and taken to Zagazig, where he was "detained" for a few hours. The spokesman added that no physical force was used, but Godfrey was searched. He said Godfrey made no complaints.

Commercial cargoes for Egypt, which the Egyptians are refusing to handle, are being carried over to Port Sudan and Bombay and even further afield. These cargoes are being discharged at the first convenient port outside Egyptian territory.

From these unloading points the consignees will have to get their cargoes back to Egypt when the opportunity arises—and at their own expense.

There is a big number of these "frustrated voyages," Reuter.

WOMEN TO TRAIN
The Egyptian women who are to take their first military instruction from volunteer officers of the Egyptian Army are members of the "Daughter of the Nile" feminist union. The first three sessions will be theoretical, but afterwards the Amazons will take up military training with pistols and live ammunition.

Normally they will wear navy blue uniforms, but during military training they will be dressed in overalls.

Egyptian sources said today that the British attempts to replace native labour which walked out of British camps with workers from abroad would be illegal.

They said that foreign labourers would be entering Egypt without visas.

The Canal Zone was today relatively quiet except for isolated attempts by Egyptians to snatch guns from British soldiers.

British business circles are concerned that Egypt might crack down on British imports, but well informed sources doubted that such a move would be made.

British military sources in Ismailia, in the Canal Zone, said that the first contingent of drivers and mechanics recruited in Malta and Cyprus, are expected soon.

They said that fresh eggs and vegetables to replace held-up Egyptian supplies were being flown in from both Mediterranean islands.—United Press.

DECISION SUSPENDED
Cairo, Nov. 8.
Egypt's Cabinet backed off today from a chance to put the country on a war preparedness footing in the British-Egyptian crisis, over the Suez Canal and Sudan.

A member said the present situation does not justify Cabinet action for full mobilization. Reproaches from the Egyptian quarrel with the Western powers were felt throughout the Arab world and in Paris.

Reports published here said Syria's pro-Western Premier had fallen from power for opposing Egypt's Arab isolationist policies.

An Egyptian delegation spokesman at the UN Assembly in Paris told reporters that if the Arab nations enter into any Middle East defence project it must be theirs—alone, alone, alone.

Reports from Alexandria, Egypt's big port outside the Canal area, said Egyptian custom authorities are blacklisting ships carrying cargoes or personnel to the British-held Suez Canal. This would deprive them of fresh water and fuel in Egypt-controlled ports.

The "naval" questions "are Egypt's liabilities on ridding the Suez and the Sudan of treaty-bound British troops."

Uproar In Belgian Parliament

Brussels, Nov. 8.

The Belgian Chamber of Deputies suspended its session in an uproar when the Socialist leader, Mr. Achille Van Acker, accused Premier Pholien's Government of changing official figures of Belgium's national revenue.

Mr. Van Acker said that a note submitted by the Belgian Treasury to the Government in September showed that Belgium's national revenue had increased by 30,000 million Belgian francs since last year, Mr. Van Acker alleged.

The Ministerial Committee of Economic Co-Ordination—the Belgian "economic inter-Cabinet"—ordered the figure to be changed to 20,000 million francs "to conceal from the NATO nations the real extent of the country's prosperity."

Mr. Van Acker inferred that the Government sought to reduce the nation's contribution to the NATO defence drive.

Cries of "forgers" and "resign" resounded on Socialist benches, while the Chairman called for order.

Mr. Van Acker made his accusing statement when he took the floor for the second time today to refute Premier Pholien's criticism of Belgium's postwar Socialist-led governments.

Mr. Pholien had quoted figures which showed that unemployment was bigger and cost of living higher under Socialist dominated governments than they are now under an all-Catholic administration.—Reuter.

UNANIMOUS REJECTION OF DEFENCE PACT BY ARABS CLAIMED

Paris, Nov. 8. Azzam Pasha, Secretary-General of the Arab League, said tonight that Arab States were unanimous in their rejection of the four-Power proposal for a Middle East defence pact.

He suggested that the West should, instead, help strengthen the Arab States' own Middle East defence set-up if it was concerned over the security of the area.

In an exclusive interview, Azzam warned that if the Western Powers go ahead with their Middle East defence project they would find themselves in the role of "moral aggressors."

He charged that the four-Power defence project would perpetuate British domination in Egypt and the full partnership it was holding out for Egypt was "only nominal" and "illusory."

Azzam Pasha made the statement on the eve of an Arab League meeting.

He said that there were two ways to strengthen Middle Eastern defence. Firstly, to supply the Arab Defence Council with arms and economic aid. Secondly, to strengthen the Arab League's own defence.

Azzam Pasha emphasised that the Arab countries were definitely anti-Communist and they would never accept this political creed which is alien to them.

"Our ideology is based on our tradition of tolerance and our religious faith. We do not want to make war on Russia, but if we are attacked we shall defend ourselves. We are 500,000,000 people and given the economic means and modern weapons we can defend ourselves. Our common defence council has now become a reality after its ratification by the Arab League's member countries."

"NO DIFFERENCES"

"We do not wish to be defended by other nations. If the West can defend itself, it can defend us. We are not planning to set up a Middle Eastern Command, there will be no co-ordination from our side."

"All talk about differences among the Arab countries on the question of the Anglo-Egyptian conflict is without foundation. There is not the slightest difference of opinion between the Arab governments on the question of abrogation of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty or on justification of the rejection by Egypt of the four-Power Middle East defence pact proposals."

The four-power proposals are not a revival of the ill-fated 1936 pact. They contain no real promises, nor do they offer any equivalent to Egypt for participation in the defence scheme. The defence proposals remain linked with maintenance of a base in the Suez which virtually cut Egypt into two. It is like offering somebody food that looks good but spoiling it by adding something to it.

"Some people think the Suez base is something comparable to the base in Aden or in Gibraltar, but that is not true. The Suez base interferes with the life of Egypt. It cannot be isolated and there remains the possibility that the occupier will cut the lifelines of Egypt at a moment's notice."

"Even if the United States, France and Turkey were to participate in the pact, the base would still remain essentially a British base and would thus perpetuate British domination. There is not a single Arab who would justify such a condition. The new proposals, therefore, can only be described as ill-timed, ill-considered and badly conceived, and they constitute a solution for Britain's current difficulties so as to enable her to keep what she has at present."

"If the Western powers want to defend the Middle East on this proposed basis, they will have to do it without Arab co-operation, against them, and they will be in the role of moral aggressors. Should they go beyond defence preparations, they would become actual aggressors," United Press.

OFFER STILL OPEN

Washington, Nov. 8. Despite the Paris statement of the Egyptian Foreign Minister, Salah el Din Pasha, that his country would under no circumstances accept the four-Power invitation to join the Middle East defence command, the invitation still stands, according to usually well-informed American sources.

At the same time these sources indicated that Israel need have no fears that she will be pressed by the Western Powers to join the defence arrangement.

Such fears were implicit in Press reports published here under a Tel-Aviv headline which described the rejection of the Israeli Foreign Minister, Moshe Sharett, to a regional defence set-up.

The idea of "pressuring" of any nation into joining the command is far from the current American viewpoint. According to present plans no nation will even be invited to join for many months.

American officials are watching with keen interest the forthcoming Arab League meeting in Paris for some action to justify their hopes that other Arab States will support the proposed command despite Egypt's bitter opposition.

These officials take encouragement from two factors:

Paris, Nov. 8.

Firstly, there has been no official condemnation of the proposed command by any Arab State outside of Egypt, although some individual Arab leaders have assailed the plan.

Secondly, the fact that the League is meeting in Paris where Arab leaders will have the opportunity for dispassionate discussion with four-Power representatives free from at least some of the nationalistic pressures which would prevail were the meeting held in an Arab capital.

American hope that there will be no hasty disavowal of the defence arrangement and they are quick to point out that no commitments are solicited at this stage.

Meanwhile, the Egyptian Ambassador, Abdul Rahman, conferred for half an hour yesterday with Mr. George McGhee, Assistant Secretary of State for Near Eastern Affairs.

"EXPLOSIVE"

Asked by reporters afterward if he protested United States support for Britain in the current Anglo-Egyptian dispute, he replied that he was not authorized to protest about anything.

Asked if he expressed displeasure at the American action, the Ambassador declined to comment.

He said: "The situation is so explosive that I don't want to add any explosives to it."

A State Department source said that the United States Government has no official word of Pakistan's recent offer to mediate in the Anglo-Egyptian treaty dispute.

Comment on American reaction to the proposal.—United Press.

ANGLO-IRAQI TALKS

Baghdad, Nov. 8. The Iraqi Premier, Nuri es-Said, who left by air for Paris and London, will discuss future Anglo-Iraqi relations with Mr. Anthony Eden, Britain's Foreign Secretary.

The Iraqi Premier will meet Mr. Eden and other policy makers at the Foreign Office.

In Paris, he will discuss with other Arab representatives their attitude to the four Western Powers' proposal for a Middle East defence pact.

Before leaving Baghdad, the Premier received a first-hand report on the situation in Egypt from the Iraqi Minister to Cairo, Najis Al-Sawi, who had been summoned home urgently.—Reuters.

Complaint By India Against South Africa

Paris, Nov. 8. India's complaint against the Union Government regarding the treatment of citizens of Indian origin in South Africa was tonight included in the agenda of the sixth session of the General Assembly.

The action was taken by the 14-nation General Committee, or Steering Committee, which approved by 10 votes to four abstentions, a recommendation that the item be debated again by the General Assembly.

The Assembly must still accept this recommendation before it finally appears in the approved agenda for the session. China, France, the Dominican Republic and the United Kingdom abstained. The countries represented by the 10 approving votes were the Soviet Union, the United States, Yugoslavia, Iraq, Norway, Thailand, Chile, Canada, Poland and Mexico.

Previously, France and China had always supported the inclusion of India's charge against South Africa in the agenda. The matter has been before the United Nations since 1949.

Neither South Africa nor India is a member of the Steering Committee, but their spokesmen were invited to the table to present their views on whether the subject should again come before the Assembly.

Mr. G. P. Jookee, the South African deputy leader, protested against the item being discussed because in his view it was a matter falling within the domestic jurisdiction of a sovereign State. He claimed that the Charter expressly protected member States against such intervention in domestic affairs.

Mr. Bhabha, Indian Minister (India) claimed that in terms of the resolution adopted last year, the matter had been referred to the General Assembly.

Shipments Of Arms For Saigon

Long Beach, Nov. 8. The Isthmian Lines' Steel Rover, tied up for three months by a waterfront labour dispute, is to sail on Friday with a consignment of Army vehicles and other supplies for the Vietnam Government in French Indo-China.

The company announced today that two other vessels will be ready to sail soon.

A spokesman for the French Consulate in Los Angeles said: "We will be very happy to receive the aid in our fight against Communism."

The main deck of the Steel Rover is loaded with boxed-up vehicles and plane parts.

The labour dispute involved the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) and a new AFL dockworkers branch of the Sailors Union of the Pacific.

It was settled, temporarily at least, when the Superior Court ordered the ILWU to load the boat or step aside for the new union.—Associated Press.

Republican To See For Himself

Washington, Nov. 8. The House Republican leader, Mr. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., took off today on a six-week tour around the world to study American foreign policy.

The Massachusetts Republican planned to confer with several foreign leaders, including the Chinese Nationalist Commander, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, in Formosa and Generalissimo Francisco Franco in Spain.

On the first leg of his trip across the Pacific, Mr. Martin and Representative Leonard Hall planned to hitch a ride on a military Air Transport service plane. After reaching Tokyo they will travel by commercial lines at their own expense. Mr. Hall is Chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee.

In explaining the trip, Mr. Martin said he wanted to see for himself how effectively the Administration was spending thousands of millions of dollars in foreign aid.—United Press.

"They are always rushing around and taking vitamins and by the time they are 40 they are worn out," she said.—Reuters.

New Mineral Identified In Nevada

Washington, Nov. 8. A new mineral has been added to the 1,600-odd well defined species known to the mineralogical world.

The US Geological Survey announced today that a bluish-gray metallic-looking mineral found in Nevada in 1943 has proved to be a new species.

The mineral has been named Robinsonite in honour of Dr. S. C. Robinson of Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, Canada. His work made possible the identification of the mineral as something new.

Robinsonite will be displayed in the National Museum here, in the nation's master collection of minerals.

Discovery of a new mineral is of considerable moment, the Geological Survey says, because it is much more difficult than finding a new member of the plant or animal kingdoms, which number their species in the thousands or millions.—Associated Press.

South Pacific Commission

Noumea, Nov. 8. The nations of the South Pacific Commission, now meeting here, have agreed to extend its scope to include two American trust territories—the Pacific Islands and Guam.

The South Pacific Commission is an advisory body set up by Britain, Australia, New Zealand, the United States, France and the Netherlands to further co-operation between the territories they administer in the South Pacific Ocean.—Reuters.

ANGLO-U.S. KASHMIR RESOLUTION

New York, Nov. 8. A resolution sponsored by the United States and British delegations will be introduced in the Security Council when it meets in Paris on Saturday to discuss Dr. Frank Graham's report on Kashmir.

The joint resolution is expected to approve Dr. Graham's recommendation that a renewed effort be made to settle the Kashmir dispute and give Dr. Graham another six weeks to reconcile Indo-Pakistan differences.

Dr. Graham made his recommendation in his report of October 15. It said that if the Security Council decided that a renewed effort to obtain an agreement should be made, it might consider to instruct the United Nations representative to implement its decision by continuing the negotiations and report to the Council within six weeks.

The joint resolution, which is expected to be ready by Saturday, would also approve Dr. Graham's recommendation that India and Pakistan be called upon to improve relations by avoiding any increase of military potential vis-a-vis Kashmir and avoiding all war propaganda.—Reuters.

Vandenberg In Japan

Tokyo, Nov. 8. General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, U.S. Air Force Chief of Staff, landed at Tokyo's Haneda airport at 1:15 a.m. today en route to Korea to "look into the MIG situation," he said.

He planned to fly to Korea in a day or two and probably also would visit Okinawa, Guam and possibly the Philippines before heading back to Washington in eight or ten days.—Associated Press.

a du Maurier

"John tells me it's the filter tip that makes a du Maurier so different. I know better than to argue with a man I'm fond of but I have my own ideas. The filter tip may well be the reason why a du Maurier remains cool and smooth to the last puff; but the flavour—that can only come from the quality of the tobacco. Why, du Maurier is the most luxurious smoke I ever tasted!"

This is the 29th Chapter of Mr Churchill's fifth book of Second World War memoirs, entitled "Closing The Ring."

RUSSIA'S CLAIM TO ITALIAN SHIPS

By Winston Churchill

IN spite of the tension with Gen. de Gaulle about Peyrouton, Boisson, and Flandin, all of whom [as being formerly associated with the Vichy Government] had been arrested by the Free French authorities in December, I determined to make an effort to renew friendly relations with him before returning home. On New Year's Day, 1944, I asked him to dine and sleep at the villa [where Mr Churchill was recuperating at Marrakesh] on Jan. 8.

"This," I said, "would give us an opportunity of long-needed talks. My wife is with me here, and if Madame de Gaulle would care to accompany me it would give us both much pleasure."

The General evidently thought the notice too short. I ought to have known that he would not sleep anywhere in North Africa but in a French official residence. He pleaded the pressure of his other engagements. So I let it alone. However, having learnt later that he would arrive in Marrakesh on Jan. 12, I invited him to luncheon that day, and he accepted.

Comments were numerous

MR Duff Cooper and Lady Diana, Lord Beaverbrook, Mr Nairn (the Consul) and his wife were also our guests. The General arrived in the best of humour, greeted Mrs Churchill in English, and spoke it throughout the meal. To make things equal I spoke French.

After luncheon the ladies went off to visit the bazars and de Gaulle and I and the other men settled down in the garden for a long talk. I had a lot of awkward subjects to deal with and I thought my speaking French would add a lighter touch to them.

Mr Nairn, who made a few notes afterwards, records: "I heard Mr Churchill say to Mr Duff Cooper in English in a very audible whisper: 'I'm doing rather well, aren't I? Now that the General speaks English so well he understands my French perfectly.' Then everyone, Gen. de Gaulle setting the example, burst out laughing. The Prime Minister continued in French, but the super-sensitive General was completely disarmed and ready to accept Mr Churchill's comment in a friendly and helpful spirit."

The comments were numerous and serious. Why was he pursuing this vendetta against the French notabilities who had fallen in his power? Did he not realise how much difficulty he made for himself in the United States? How angry the President was with him? How much we all depended on American aid and goodwill?

Why should he complicate his own task by this and all sorts of other needless friction? Why should he always try to offend these powerful Governments without whose help he could not live? Upon a smaller point, why had he driven Gen. Georges, whom I had specially brought from France to make things easier, off the Committee?

At this de Gaulle said he had offered Gen. Georges the Chancellorship of the Legion of Honour. I asked what reply he had received. "I received no reply," he answered. I said I was not surprised. Had he the Chancellorship to bestow?

But all ended pleasantly, and the General proposed that I should attend a review he would hold in my honour the next morning, which I agreed to do. And accordingly de Gaulle and I stood on a small platform while quite a large array of French and Moroccan troops marched past for an hour amid the cheers of the inhabitants of the Marrakesh oasis.

President was worried

WE have seen how [at Teheran] Stalin had asked for a share in the Italian Fleet, and the President was under the impression that he himself had mentioned in conversation one-third. The British Chiefs of Staff did not like this, and had always spoken to their Russian colleagues on a different basis. The President was worried about his personal remark "one-third," and set the whole position out to me with great frankness.

President Roosevelt to Prime Minister, 9 Jan., '44.

As I told you, Harriman requested information on the action we were taking to carry out our commitments to turn over Italian ships to the Soviet by Feb. 1 so that he could discuss the matter with Molotov if he were queried. I told him it was my intention to allocate one-third of the captured Italian ships to the Soviet war effort, beginning Feb. 1, as rapidly as they could be made available.

Harriman then reminded me that Stalin's request at Teheran was a reiteration of the Soviet request originally made at Moscow in October [namely, for one battleship, one cruiser, eight destroyers, and four submarines for North Russia, and 40,000 tons of merchant shipping for the Black Sea], and that no mention was made at Moscow or Teheran of the Russian getting additional ships up to one-third of those captured.

Harriman also emphasised the very great importance of fulfilling our pledge to yield these ships. For us to fail or to delay would, in his opinion, only arouse suspicion in Stalin and in his associates as to the firmness of our commitments made at Teheran.

On the other hand, the Chiefs of Staff have raised numerous objections to the transfer, based on probable effects that this course would have on pending operations. They fear a loss of Italian naval and military co-operation, and the scuttling or sabotage of valuable ships which we need for "Anvil" [the landing in Southern France] and "Overlord" [the main cross-Channel operation]. They foresee no material benefit to the Russian war effort at this time, since the warships are presently quite unsuited for Northern waters and the Black Sea is closed to merchant vessels.

Message not clear

THIS message was not entirely clear. I agreed to the ships mentioned in our agreement of October, but not to the more general terms of "one-third." I therefore replied:

Prime Minister to President Roosevelt, 9 Jan., '44.

I entirely agree with you that we must not break faith with Stalin about the ships. I have been for a week in correspondence with Anthony on the subject, and hope to submit a proposal to you for a joint communication from you and me in a day or two.

I was myself in full accord with the Chiefs of Staff on both sides of the Atlantic. I felt that the immediate transfer of these Italian warships, which had so resolutely made their way to Malta and placed themselves in our hands, might have most damaging results to Italian co-operation with the Allies.

I was therefore prepared to press the War Cabinet and the Admiralty to make a substantial British sacrifice and to supply a number of British ships to the Russians. Instead of breaking Italian hearts at this moment, so pregnant, as it seemed to me, with consequences for the future. Various messages passed between us, and I was very glad indeed to find how closely my colleagues at home and the Chiefs of Staff agreed.

British ships offered

AS soon as I reached an agreement with my friends at home I sent the following proposals to the President:

Prime Minister to President Roosevelt, 16 Jan., '44.

My recollection is clear that nothing was said at Teheran about "one-third," but that a promise was made to meet the Russian claim put forward at Moscow to have transferred to them one battleship, one cruiser, eight destroyers, four submarines, and 40,000 tons of merchant shipping.

On the other hand, the main difficulties raised by the Chiefs of Staff are solid, and I think it very likely that once Stalin is convinced of our intentions and our good faith he will leave us to handle the matter in the smoothest and swiftest way possible.

I suggest, therefore, that we now signal him jointly to the following effect:

"...The Combined Chiefs of Staff...think it would be dangerous to our triple interests, actually, to carry out any transfer or to say anything about it to the Italians at present. Nevertheless, if after full consideration you desire us to proceed, we will make a secret approach to England with a view to concluding the necessary arrangements."

"These would have to be on the lines that Italian ships selected should be sailed to a suitable Allied port, where they would be collected by Russian crews, who would sail into Russian Northern ports. We are, however, very conscious of the dangers of this course, and have therefore decided to propose the following alternative:

"The British battleship Royal Sovereign has recently completed refit in the United States. She is fitted with Radar for all types of armament. Great Britain has also a cruiser available. His Majesty's Government are willing, for their part, that these vessels should be taken over during February at British ports by Soviet crews and sailed to Nor'h Russian ports.

"You could then make such alterations as you and necessary for Arctic conditions. These vessels would be temporarily transferred on loan to the Soviet Government, and would fly the Soviet flag until, without prejudice to the military operations, the necessary transfer of Italian vessels could be arranged.

"If events should take a favourable turn with Turks and the Straits become open, the vessels would be ready to operate, if desired, in the Black Sea. We hope you will very carefully consider this alternative, which we think is in every way superior to first proposal."

Alternative accepted

THIS alternative was accepted by the President. The Americans undertook themselves to furnish a cruiser, and the whole matter was presented to Stalin substantially in the form I suggested in a joint telegram from the President and me on Jan. 23. Stalin's reply, when it came later, was as follows:

Premier Stalin to Prime Minister and President Roosevelt, 29 Jan., '44.

"I must say that, after your joint affirmative reply at Teheran to the question which I raised of the handing over to the Soviet Union of Italian shipping by the end of January, 1944, I considered this question settled, and the thought never entered my mind of the possibility of any kind of reconsideration of this decision, which was taken and agreed between the three of us."

All the more so since, as we agreed at the time, this question was to be completely settled with the Italians. Now I see that this is not so, and that nothing has even been mentioned to the Italians on the subject.

In order, however, not to complicate this question, which is of such great importance for our common struggle against Germany, the Soviet Government is prepared to accept your proposal regarding the despatch from British ports to the U.S.S.R. of the battleship Royal Sovereign and one cruiser, and regarding the temporary use of these vessels by the Naval High Command of the U.S.S.R. until such time as the appropriate Italian shipping is made available to the Soviet Union. Similarly, we shall be prepared to accept from the U.S.A. and Great Britain 40,000 tons of merchant shipping, which will also be used by us until such time as a similar tonnage of Italian shipping is handed over to us. It is important that there should be no delays now regarding the matter, and that all the shipping indicated should be handed over to us during the month of February. In your reply, however, there is no mention of the handing over to the Soviet Union of eight Italian destroyers and four submarines, to the handing over of which to the Soviet Union at the end of January you, Mr Prime Minister, and you, Mr President, agreed in Teheran. Meanwhile, for the Soviet Union this very question of destroyers and submarines, without which the handing over of one battleship and one cruiser has no significance, is of capital importance.

You understand yourselves that a cruiser and a battleship are powerless without escorting destroyers. Since the whole of Italy's Fleet is under your control, to carry out the decision which was taken at Teheran to hand over for the use of the Soviet Union eight destroyers and four submarines out of that Fleet should present no difficulties.

I am agreeable [literally "I agree"] that, instead of Italian destroyers and submarines, a similar number of American or British destroyers and submarines should be handed over to the Soviet Union for our use. Moreover, the question of the handing over of destroyers and submarines cannot be postponed, but must be settled at once and the same time with the handing over of the battleship and cruiser, as was definitely agreed between us at Teheran.

Sweetening the pill

EVENTUALLY the matter was settled as I hoped, although there was a good deal of correspondence, not all of a pleasant character, about it with our Soviet Ally. The Royal Sovereign and the American cruiser were handed over as proposed. There was an inevitable delay about the destroyers till after the "Overlord" operation was complete. The Admiralty sweetened this pill by lending Russia four of our modern submarines.

As is well known, the Soviets after the war faithfully returned the ships, and arrangements were made to transfer vessels from the Italian Fleet in a manner acceptable to all concerned.

THERE IS a new twist to the old story of the vagrant who turns out to have a fortune.

When New York hospital doctors treated 70-year-old John Mansfield for starvation, they found he had $427 (£152 10s.) in his pockets.

Next, they discovered bank books showing deposits of nearly $30,000 (£10,714).

"I could never do anything right all my life," quavered John Mansfield miserably, "so I was afraid I would not know how to spend it properly."

RELENTLESS CRITIC of the Government's foreign policy, Senator Robert Taft, of Ohio—and he might easily get the Republican nomination for President next summer—returns to the attack. He says there is "a complete lack of planning" in Washington.

And he says that Truman, having started the Korean war on his own responsibility, "even if he makes an appeasement peace now, can hardly claim credit for ending without result the war which he began."

WHILE the Korean peace talk continues, Colorado's crusty Democrat Senator Edwin Johnson charges in a newspaper article that a well-known U.S. public servant has been retained by Syngman Rhee's South Korean Government at a high fee to ensure that there shall be no negotiated peace.

Johnson says this man is Paul McNutt—at one time head of the War Manpower Commission.

NEW-STYLE BANKING—being nice to depositors—is paying off in California. What with housewives being drawn in by high-pressure advertising campaigns and finding brand-new chauffeured-green sofas and lounge chairs when they get to the banks, Los Angeles savings accounts are about 15 percent above the national average.

FOURTEEN MONTHS AGO a haval hospital ship hit a freighter off San Francisco's Golden Gate and sank in shallow water. Now the underworld is busy making huge bids for the bulk and its contents. For the ship contained one and a half million dollars' worth of narcotics—treasure trove for the dope peddlers.

THE AUSTRALIANS ARE AGAIN IN THE GRIPS OF TEST MATCH FEVER

Melbourne.

Australia, on the eve of the long-awaited cricket Test matches against the highly-rated West Indies, is in the grips of "Test Match Fever."

Not even the first post-war series between Australia and England, played here in 1946 after six dreary war years, raised as much pre-series interest as this forthcoming tour, which has been billed as the "Cricket Championship of the World."

A fanfare of publicity greeted the vanguard of eight West Indian cricketers, including the captain, John Goddard, when they arrived here.

Large crowds have watched the West Indians practise and Australian critics are busy stressing the threat to Australia's cricket supremacy is real, and that its performance against Freddie Brown's Englishmen here last season will not be good enough.

The West Indian captain believes that his team, with batting "aces" Weekes and Worrell, and his "spin-twins" Valentine and Ramadhin, will win the Test series for him.

"STICKY DOG"

The first Test will be played over five days at Brisbane Cricket Ground, famous for its "sticky dog" pitches, beginning November 8. The ground has unhappy memories for England in the last two Test series against Australia, in 1946 and 1950.

A feature of the Test series is the covered pitches, which are not in perfect condition with a few tropical downpours, which flood the ground with a few minutes will still present a constant threat of a "sticky" day.

Seepage under covers always occurs after downpours in Sheffield Shield matches.

Rooney B. Stone could prove a happy "bumming ground" for six feet tall, 21-year-old Alex Valentine, the Venty-type bowler, who is a specialist on wet pitches.

Given such conditions, Valentine, the first day of the Test in Brisbane, may be remembered as a special day.

Give The Players More Of A Chance By Re-shuffling The Football League

Says IVAN SHARPE

When the Labour Ministry Committee continues its inquiry into "football slavery," the Players' Union will give evidence. They are likely to mention flood-lighting.

Perhaps that's as well. Let's get it all over at once. Though it isn't the heaven-sent blessing some people suppose, as winter evenings will be too chilly for spectators, floodlit football offers new revenue.

And, believe it or not, this is what the clubs have been seeking for years: 24 first-team home games, in the present League and Cup competitions, don't provide sufficient revenue.

"How, then, can you fork out £10,000, £20,000, £30,000 and more for one player's transfer?" the innocent Committee men may ask.

And, believe it or not, this is what the clubs have been seeking for years: 24 first-team home games, in the present League and Cup competitions, don't provide sufficient revenue.

TURPIN & ROBINSON MAY FIGHT AGAIN

London, Nov. 8.

Sugar Ray Robinson, the World Middleweight Boxing Champion, may fight the British title-holder, Randolph Turpin, for the third time.

Robinson will make an exhibition tour of Europe next spring and George Gahford, his manager, indicated in New York last night that he would be willing to agree to a bout with Turpin in London next summer.

George Middleton, Turpin's manager, said today that Turpin would jump at the chance of meeting Robinson again. He added that Turpin would make an official challenge to Robinson immediately.

Robinson will leave for San Francisco early next month to prepare for his World title fight against Carl Olson there on November 20. Another title bout in February against Rocky Graziano in Chicago may also take place.

He will leave for Europe late in March or early April. He plans to make a motion picture in Paris.

The first time that Robinson and Turpin met was in July of this year in London, where the British Champion won on points to gain the World known. Robinson retained the title in New York in September, beating Turpin in the 10th round.

There is also a possibility that Kid Gavilan, the American recognised World Welterweight Boxing Champion, who last night beat Tony Janiro in four rounds, will meet Turpin in an over-weight match in London early next year.—Reuter.

GARDNER OPTIMISTIC

London, Nov. 8. Jack Gardner, the British and Empire Heavyweight Boxing Champion, has indicated that he would be fit by the end of February to meet Johnny Williams, of Rugby in defence of his titles.

"The specialist who performed the operation on my eye is very satisfied and I have finished my post-operative treatment," said Gardner. "He has told me that I will be as strong as ever after three months' rest."

Gardner said that he was "eye-conscious" when he fought Cesar Brion, the South American, and Hein Ten Hoff, the German, to whom he lost the European Championship.

"I was fully aware then that the area above my right eye would not stand up to a really hard blow by either man and that worried me during those fights. But I am a happy man again now."

Grand Gala Night At VRC Tomorrow

The curtain falls on the 1951 swimming season when the Hongkong Amateur Swimming Association holds its grand gala night at the Victoria Recreation Club tomorrow, commencing at 9.30 p.m.

The programme, in which all members of the probable Inter-club team for Manila will take part, is novel in many ways, for apart from one race in each of the men's and women's section, the meat of the entertainment consists of specially arranged events in which the individual swimmers will be able to demonstrate their favourite strokes against other styles of propulsion in the water.

Women free-style swimmers will compete against the men, who will utilise the back and breast strokes, while a trio of the leading sprinters in the men's section will endeavour to better six junior swimmers over 300 yards.

The swimming programme winds up with a grand finale in which all the swimmers will take part in a five-a-side relay, each swimmer using his or her particular stroke.

The evening's entertainment concludes with a dance to the band of the 1st Bn Royal Leicesters, which has been provided through the courtesy of the Army Sports Board as a direct contribution towards the drive for funds to finance the forthcoming Inter-club team for Manila.

Certificates will also be distributed to those who have helped in the drive for funds during October.

Yogi Berra Voted The American League's Most Valuable Player

New York, Nov. 8.

Yogi Berra, squat New York Yankee catcher, today was voted most valuable player in the American League for 1951 in an astonishing finish to a wide open race.

Tabulation of votes from the 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America showed that Berra, Ned Garver of St Louis and Alie Reynolds of the Yanks each had six first place ballots.

The result was sure to start tongues wagging around the circuit for Berra slumped badly in September and finished with a .204 batting average. The 28-year-old Berra led the Yanks in runs batted in with 88, and hit 27 home runs.

Berra won on points with a total of 184 on the basis of 10 for a first place vote, nine for second and so on down to one for tenth.

NED GARVER SECOND Garver, baby-faced 20-game winner for the last place Browns, was a close-up second with 187 points and Reynolds, who threw two no-hitters for the World Champions, was third with 125 points.

The voting was distributed among 23 players, with another 10 receiving honourable mention in the closest finish in years.

With Berra in the American and Brooklyn's Roy Campanella in the National this was the first year two catchers were named most valuable.

No less than eight men drew first place votes in the American League. Full statistics of the voting will be published tomorrow.

Solar Favoured For Manchester November H'cap

London, Nov. 8.

Prince Aly Khan's Irish-trained five-year-old Solar was made the favourite for the Manchester November Handicap at the first call-over on the race held at the Victoria Club here tonight.

Solar, backed to win £11,000, has won once this season in Ireland. He won a 10 furlong plate in muddy going at Laytown in September.

Solar was returned 100 to 8 tonight after being quoted in betting circles during the past few days at 25 to 1.

Sports Master, who won the race in 1948 and was the runner-up the following year, was well supported and £7,000 of business was done on him. He is the second choice at 100 to 8.

The best-backed of the other horses quoted were Belsay Castle and Clare Hill, two of the joint third favourites at 100 to 7.—Reuter.

Couples On Raft
Find Each
Other 'Repulsive'

New York, Nov. 8.

After two unmarried couples had spent more than three months together on a 12-by-20-foot raft, what would you expect? If you guess romance you could not be more wrong.

Said Don Brown, 23-year-old university graduate, one of the four who have just completed a 1,800-mile voyage down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers: "We find each other repulsive."

But repulsive or not the four are sticking together to cash in on the dollars which will come to them in a variety of ways. They weathered the criticism of "bluestockings" and newspapers—even the early wrath of the girls' mothers, who were shocked at the idea of their daughters sailing with two strange men.

The trip was the idea of Mary Ellen McCrady, 24-year-old blonde, of Washington, student of sociology. She advertised for girl companions, but only Geraldine Garcia, 24-year-old redhead from Boston, replied.
